

CUTLER WAS A PUZZLE

Caused St. Albans High's
Downfall, 8 to 2, Yesterday

HE ALLOWED FOUR HITS

In Addition to That, Cutler Scored Twice and Brought in Two More on a Clean Rap—Smith Caught Him
Well and Batted Hard.

In a game featured by timely hitting and some good fielding, Spaulding high school defeated St. Albans high, 8 to 2, at the Berlin street grounds yesterday afternoon. Spaulding made all of its runs in the third and fourth innings, when they started their only hitting rally of the game and pounded out six hits. The visitors saved themselves from a shut-out, after being blanked for eight innings, by rapping out a couple of good singles in the ninth, which, with previous base on balls, gave them their two rallies.

Spaulding made but two errors, none of which figured in the visitors' runs, and St. Albans slipped up three times, two of the errors counting in the scoring. Spaulding pulled off two double plays, one in the fourth, when Smith caught a foul fly and nailed a runner at second, who had attempted to go down from first after the ball was caught, and the second in the seventh on a play from Stewart to Williams to Littlejohn.

Neiberg made the long hit of the game, when he drove the ball into the left field corner of the fence for three bases in the third inning, but it amounted to naught, as two men were down and the next was an easy out. Cutler pitched an excellent game for Spaulding, allowing only four hits, two of them being made in the last inning. Outside of the two innings in which the locals made their tallies, Robert of St. Albans settled down and allowed only two more hits.

Spaulding got their first three runs in the third, after two men were out. Cutler starting the ball rolling by rapping out a clean single into center field and stealing second. Stewart fapped a slow grounder to short, which he beat out, and Cutler went to third. Grigg then followed with a single into right field, scoring Cutler and Stewart. Smith kept up the good work by lambing the ball into left, scoring Grigg.

In the fourth, again, all of the five runs were made after two men were down. Maiden was up first and was put out at the initial rack. Williams drew a pass to first on four ball ones and was sacrificed to second by Hagan. Kenefick went out on a grounder to second for the second out. Littlejohn then got a life on four balls and Cutler again put the wood to the ball for a safe grass clipper by second base, scoring both Williams and Littlejohn. Stewart rapped to short, who threw badly to first. Grigg hit in front of the plate, and the pitcher got the ball and tossed it to Abel at the plate, but he let the ball fall through his fingers and Cutler scored. Smith drove the ball over the left field fence for two sacks, bringing home both Stewart and Grigg. Maiden ended the inning by being felled out at first.

In the ninth, after Neiberg of St. Albans had gone out, Reagan, the diminutive shortstop of the team, was walked to first and he scampered down to second for a successful steal. Abel then rapped out a hit into right field, bringing the youngster home. Abel landed at second and scored on Hebert's hit to center field. The score:

KELIHER DE- FENCE SHOWN

Will Attempt to Discredit

CLAIM TESTIMONY FALSE

Sworn Story Differs from That of the Jury—Cross-examination of the
Yesterday.

Boston, Mass., May 28.—In order to get certain testimony before the jury in the case of "Big Bill" Kelher, on trial in the United States circuit court for aiding and abetting George W. Coleman in the swindling of the National City bank of Cambridge, the defense was compelled to show his hand yesterday morning. Coleman was undergoing cross-examination by Daniel H. Conley, Kelher's counsel, who proposed to put in an interview which a paper had with police inspector Hurler, and which purported to give statements made by Coleman to Hurler. Preliminary to this, he wished to show what Coleman had told the district attorney prior to this interview. District Attorney French claimed that the United States supreme court had repeatedly held that what passed in the district attorney's office was not to be made public as a matter of public policy.

"But this is the very gist of the defense," exclaimed Mr. Conley in impassioned tones, and after Judge Hale said he would exclude the newspaper interview, and Mr. Conley excepted, Mr. French withdrew his objection and let the whole matter go in. The cross-examination consisted of largely of repetitions, evidently intended to entrap the witness, that Judge Hale cautioned Mr. Conley and said that there would come a time when he would stop "these repetitions." During the eleven o'clock recess, William A. Morse, counsel for Coleman, had an interview with the counsel for the case in regard to the line of questioning.

Coleman was called to the stand for cross-examination by attorney Conley shortly after noon opened yesterday morning. Attorney Pratt Thursday began the cross-examination of Coleman with questions regarding his bank transactions.

Mr. Conley began by drawing from the witness a recital of the witness' sporting experiences in New York and Boston. Coleman told of entertaining women in restaurants and elsewhere, but denied that the sums he had spent had exceeded $200 a night. He said that Kelher usually paid the bills in New York, when they were together, but he paid the bills in Boston. He went with Kelher to a resort in Boston and knew Lucille Chaney, but denied that Lockhart ever said to him, "I expect to go to jail for you, Lucille."

At 12:30 o'clock Judge Hale announced that he would be compelled to adjourn court in order to be here next week. Addressing the jury, he cautioned them, during the long interim, not to talk with anybody about the case. Attorney Pratt asked that Coleman might be brought to the federal building to-day to go over the books of the bank with the attorneys for the defense and the district attorney, and the motion was granted.

Stephen F. Hinkley, parlor conductor on the five-o'clock train from New York to Boston, and B. T. Lawrence, train conductor of the same train, testified to seeing Kelher and Coleman together on trains going to New York. The last time he saw them together was before election night. Eugene T. Rowland, in charge of the observation car, saw Kelher and Coleman together about once a week last November. He saw them two or three times before he knew their names.

The sessions next week will be longer. The cross-examination of Coleman will go on Tuesday morning at 9:30 and the afternoon sessions will also be longer.

EXTRA SESSION IS CALLED

Gov. Hughes Wants Primary
Reform Measure

LEGISLATURE TO MEET

Again on June 20—The Governor Believes the Cobb Bill Should Be Made a Law—Roosevelt Home Before Special Session.

Albany, N. Y., May 28.—Believing that there should be further opportunity for considering the Cobb compromise direct nominations bill which was defeated in the assembly Thursday night after hours of weary filibuster, Governor Hughes yesterday called an extraordinary session of the legislature to meet on Monday, June 20, at 8:30 p. m. The legislators had listened to farewell addresses by Lieutenant-Governor White and Speaker Wadsworth, cleared out their desks, packed their grips and said good-bye to the news of their recall flushed through the capital. Copies of the governor's official proclamation were at once served upon the clerks of the two houses and listening legislators remarked significantly that Theodore Roosevelt would be home about that time.

Speaker Wadsworth and a number of assembly leaders who throughout the long session have been consistent opponents to the governor's direct nomination plan, were in the clerk's room when the governor's message appeared with the proclamation. The speaker declined to discuss the situation.

There had been much speculation among the members since the defeat of the Cobb bills as to the probability of an extra session, and yesterday's announcement was not entirely unexpected. In fact the leaders on both sides looked upon the governor's declaration that he would veto the Meade-Phillips bill as indicating such an intention in the event of the defeat of the Cobb bill. Others contended that having passed the Meade-Phillips bill and defeated the other primary measures there was little likelihood of an extra session.

This is the third time during his four years' administration that Governor Hughes has called the legislature back after it had adjourned. Three years ago the apportionment bill was passed and the following year the anti-gambling law was the issue.

The governor takes the position that the legislature has failed to pass a measure providing for proper primary regulation, and he believes it is his duty to call the legislature back to consider the Cobb compromise bill and although the bill was defeated in the assembly, he believes its defeat, although not causing reflections on anybody, was accomplished through unusual circumstances, many of the members claiming they did not have time to properly consider the bill. The governor's proper consideration can be gained, and accurate between now and then, and for that reason he is it his duty to convene the legislature for the purpose of enacting a reasonable primary law.

Governor Hughes fails to secure the direct nomination measure, but has much influence in influencing legislative action on an anti-gambling measure, which, according to the governor, will be passed by the legislature. The governor's action is a compromise between the two sides, and he believes it is his duty to call the legislature back to consider the Cobb compromise bill and although the bill was defeated in the assembly, he believes its defeat, although not causing reflections on anybody, was accomplished through unusual circumstances, many of the members claiming they did not have time to properly consider the bill. The governor's proper consideration can be gained, and accurate between now and then, and for that reason he is it his duty to convene the legislature for the purpose of enacting a reasonable primary law.

RACE TRACK REFORM.

Albany Legislators finally put the bill on the agenda.

Albany, May 28.—The senate and assembly have put the reform bill on the agenda. The bill is a compromise between the two sides, and he believes it is his duty to call the legislature back to consider the Cobb compromise bill and although the bill was defeated in the assembly, he believes its defeat, although not causing reflections on anybody, was accomplished through unusual circumstances, many of the members claiming they did not have time to properly consider the bill. The governor's proper consideration can be gained, and accurate between now and then, and for that reason he is it his duty to convene the legislature for the purpose of enacting a reasonable primary law.

INDICT HER FOX

Miss Peck of Union College wouldn't tell enumerator her age, so the grand jury acts.

CENSUS SILENCE

Lincoln, Neb., May 28.—Because she refused recently to give her age to the census taker, Miss Sarah E. Peck, head of the normal department of Union college, has been indicted by the grand jury in the U. S. district court. She was answer to the indictment at the present term of court.

Miss Peck, who is well known here as an educator, positively refused, the enumerator declares, to tell her age, and when he asked her if she had been married or divorced, she is alleged to have told him his inquiries were impertinent.

NEW SEALING TREATY.

United States, Canada, Russia and Japan Have Nearly Completed Negotiations.

Victoria, B. C., May 28.—Negotiations for a sealing treaty between the United States, Canada, Russia and Japan, are reported here to be practically completed. Private information received here Thursday is that the United States will compensate Victoria sealing schooner owners and Canada will receive a percentage of profit from the Pribiloff seal herds. Under the treaty pelagic sealing will be stopped in the North Pacific ocean for a long term of years and the interested nations will need less making it an offense for a vessel to be cleared for sealing. The United States did this many years ago.

FURTHER DECLINES

Violent Wheat Market Yesterday in Chicago

DROPS TO 1.03, UNLOADING

Very Large Sales of July and September—The Bulls Are Beaten by the World's New Crop Prospects.

Chicago, May 28.—Following Thursday's declines in September and May wheat the market was violent yesterday and registered further declines during the first hour and a half of the same session varied—simultaneously in different parts of the pit by a cent in September and a cent and a half in May. May wheat, closing Friday night at 1.05 to 1.04 1/2, fell to 1.03 as discouraged longs unloaded and pocketed their losses. July and September were sold in immense quantities, to an extent by foreigners. September closing Friday night at 95 cents, dropped to 91 1/2, a loss since Wednesday of 3 1/2 cents, July at 93 1/2 cents, as compared with 95 1/2 at the close Friday, a loss of 2 1/2 cents in two days.

The market at the bottom yesterday shortly before the close, showed extreme losses of 2 1/2 cents in September to 3 1/2 cents in May. The close showed an average rally from the bottom of about 1 1/2 cents. This was due largely to the fact that the market for the time was sold to a standstill.

The bulls have been whipped by old mother nature, as traders put it. Bulls loaded up with wheat early in the season when prospects as viewed by them looked dubious for an adequate world crop. But in the United States the rains descended and the sun shone to such purpose that the gloom was lifted from apparently bright prospects. Europe predicted unusual crops, and even wheat in India took arms against the bulls with predictions of a record-breaking harvest.

It is almost axiomatic among speculators that the trader who cannot execute a quick right-about-face in pace with shifting developments will not last long in any market. The big bulls in wheat seem to hold to this rule, having lost all time in pouring out their holdings when nature pointed the way.

AVIATION WEEK FOR MONTREAL DECIDED UPON

Big Meeting of Aeronauts to Be Held in Canadian Commercial Metropolis

from June 28 to July 4

Next.

Montreal, May 28.—After several meetings between leading citizens and the members of the Automobile and Aero Club of Canada, an aviation week in Montreal was discussed, official announcement is now made that it has been definitely decided to hold under the auspices of the Automobile and Aero Club of Canada an aviation week this summer, which will bring together aviators of repute from all parts of the globe, including Germany, England, France, the United States, as well as a Canadian aviator with a practical flying machine.

The dates set are June 28 to July 4; this will be known as "aviation week." In addition to the aeroplanes, there will be balloons, parachutes, drops and bomb tests. In these lighter than air types of aerial craft exhibitions, many American pilots, famous all over the world, will take part.

William Caruthers, grain operator, is the first Montreal aviator. He has bought a biplane monoplane, and he expects to have some trial flights at Pointe aux Trembles soon.

PROPOSE LIMITED WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Some Members of the House of Commons Have Scheme to Entrust Choice Holders of Property of Certain Value.

London, May 28.—Several members of parliament belonging to all parties have constituted themselves a "conciliation committee for woman suffrage." They aim at settling the question on a plan acceptable to all grades of suffragettes. As a practicable minimum they will introduce in the house of commons as early as possible a bill enfranchising women holding house property valued at a certain figure. The promoters of the bill regard it merely as a working compromise, not as an ideal solution. It would add 1,000,000 new voters to the register. The committee contends that the present house of commons, like all since 1870, shows a majority in favor of woman suffrage.

KITCHENER FOR INDIA?

Slated for Post of Viceroy, It Is Reported

DOUBT IS EXPRESSED

As to Fitness for Position—Said to Lack the Diplomacy Needed—No Doubt of His Qualifications in a Military Way.

London, May 28.—According to the Western Morning News of Plymouth, it is practically settled that Lord Kitchener will be the next viceroy of India.

The report that Lord Kitchener is to be the next head of the government in India is not a surprise, as the name of the general has been mentioned in connection with the post. The viceroy of India, at present, based as he is with the growing disaffection manifested in the numerous outbreaks against British authority, must needs be a strong man, and the Liberal party in England has few such of the rank necessary for the appointment, unlike the Conservatives, whose greatest strength is in the peerage. With regard to Kitchener's qualifications, and the wisdom of his appointment, there is considerable discussion.

REGULARS GAIN GROUND IN FIGHT ON RAILROAD BILL

Defeat of the Martin and Cummins Amendments in Senate Chamber

Raise Rates—Four Democrats

Vote With the Majority.

The Senate drove hard with the railroad regulation bill. It heard Senator La Follette to the end, and then started voting at a rapid rate. The regulars mustered a powerful majority, with which they defeated the Martin amendment, 15 to 34, requiring the interstate commerce commission to dispose of complaints against increases in rates within six months, and also the Cummins' amendment requiring the commission to approve of all increases in rates before those rates can go into effect. The big test was on the latter provision, which was defeated, 39 to 45. Four Democrats—Bailey, Smith, of Maryland, McNary and Taylor—voted with the Republicans. A few Democrats were absent and unpaired, but their absence did not change the result.

Senator Hughes, the Colorado Democrat, moved to strike out sections 13, 14, 15 and 17, which have to do with the regulation of capitalization. That was done with little discussion, but Senator Dooliver of Iowa promises to offer to submit substitute provisions for those sections.
